

But you, man of God, pursue righteousness, devotion, faith, love, patience, and gentleness. Compete well for the faith. 1 Tim 6:11-12

LIFE (Learning In Faith Experiences)

On my drive in to work this morning as I was radio station-hopping, I heard a few beats to an “old-ish” song by Dan Fogelberg called “Leader of the Band.” (I’m dating myself...) Upon hearing those first few notes, I was hoping that the song had just begun so I could sing along with it, yes! I remembered all the words!! Why am I telling you this? This song was the theme for one of many retreats that I was a team member on, years ago and in a previous time in my life. This song and its message brought me back in my mind to that place, time, and the people that I shared the experience with, but mostly this song moved me to remember my “call” from God. After the song ended, the radio was clicked off but my musings continued about how, my faith has been and continues to be nurtured – or at times, goes through a dry spell. This morning’s Gospel reading is the call of Matthew. Pope Francis said this about Matthew’s call in a homily: “Jesus looks at Matthew and awakens something new within him, something that he did not know. The gaze of Jesus makes him feel an interior wonder and makes him hear the call of Jesus: follow me. It only took a moment to understand that that look had changed his life forever. And it is in this moment that Matthew says yes, leaves everything and goes with the Lord.” Jesus’ gaze on our face can do this to us too; if we take the time to stop and look. I read an article last week about “Why Catholics are leaving the faith at such a young age...” and was quite disheartened by it. My heart breaks with that thought as I sit in church, worshiping at mass and, week after week look around for young-ish faces. Who are those that are the hands and feet, the eyes, ears, and mouths that bring Christ into the lives of our children, young people, young adults and young families? If not we, those of us who have experienced Jesus alive in our hearts and lives, and share/invite others to experience God’s overwhelming, generous, unconditional and powerful love – who will? I invite you to come experience God’s love within our Faith Community this weekend at LIFE as we Learn In Faith Experiences, one with another, through prayer, sharing, ritual, presentation and activity (after sharing a simple meal together) as we develop our theme “Sacraments...transforming everyday life.” I leave you with the final words to Dan Fogelberg’s song: The leader of the band is tired and his eyes are growing old, but his blood runs through my instrument and his song is in my soul. My life has been a poor attempt to imitate the man, I’m just a living legacy to the leader of the band. I am a living legacy to the leader of the band. [Housekeeping note: LIFE is from 11:30am-2pm on Sunday and 5:30-8pm on Monday. Both celebrations are held in the Parish Center.]
